

Hello!

Birdwatching is a fun hobby that can be enjoyed anywhere by all ages. You don't need any special equipment to watch birds. You will use your eyes and your ears. You can watch birds in your backyard.

The next page has a Birdwatch BINGO game. You can play Birdwatch Bingo alone or with someone, from home or on a walk. This game can even be played with someone far away. Agree to start at the same time and watch birds in your environment. Have your friend do the same. Mark the time you get Birdwatch BINGO and compare with your friend.

Kern Audubon Society is a group of people who enjoy birds and care about the environment. Sometimes we get together for fun outings. There is a list of places to birdwatch in Kern County on the website. For more information, take a grown-up to visit the website of Kern Audubon Society at <https://www.kernaudubonsociety.org>

Most of all, keep birdwatching!

Directions: Print out the page. Mark the Kern Audubon Society square in the middle. It's a free square! Then, mark any square when you see a bird with that description. You can use found pebbles, pennies, or a pencil to mark your squares. If you get five in a row, you get Birdwatch BINGO!
